Summary

Please provide a brief summary of all regulatory changes, including the rationale behind such changes. Alert the reader to all substantive matters or changes. If applicable, generally describe the existing regulation.

The Integrated Directional Signing Program (IDSP) contributes to the public health, safety, and welfare by facilitating motorist awareness and accessibility to historical, cultural, or commercial attractions. It consolidates four specific highway signing programs designed to:

- Specific Travel Services (Logo) Signs: guide motorists to specific gas, food, lodging, camping and attraction locations along Virginia's interstates and controlled-access highways.
- Tourist-Oriented Directional Signs (TODS): a newly-created program for signs used along roads that do not have limited access, such as most primary and secondary highways, to guide motorists to businesses, services, recreation and other facilities nearby.
- Supplemental Guide Signs: guide motorists traveling from outside the immediate area to specific cultural, recreational, historical, governmental, educational, military and other sites of interest.
- General Motorist Services Logo Signs: use symbols or general terms to let motorists know that services such as hospitals, public phones, gas, food, lodging, or camping are nearby.

In addition, the IDSP incorporates special programs signing criteria for the following programs:

- Civil War Trails;
- Birding and Wildlife Trails;
- Wayfinding Signs;
- Virginia Waterways Signage; and
- State Scenic River Signs

Further, additional criteria and considerations for the integration of the Winery Signage Program are addressed in the IDSP.

The IDSP criteria address issues such as: requirements businesses and other program participants must meet for eligibility, new categories for specific programs, and fee structures that were not previously regulatory actions.

Promulgation of the IDSP criteria will render two programs previously filed as APA-exempt regulations obsolete: the Guidelines for the Logo Program (24 VAC 30-550-10 et seq.) and Terms for Installation and Cost of Supplemental Signing (24 VAC 30-600-10 et seq.). The Office of the Attorney General (OAG) has reviewed the IDSP criteria and fees and determined that they are exempt from the Administrative Process Act through § 2.2-4002 B 11 (Traffic signs, markers or control devices) and § 2.2-4006 A 1 (Agency orders or regulations fixing rates or prices).

Family impact

This action will have some positive effect on recreational activities undertaken by families, since it is designed to facilitate awareness and accessibility to historical, cultural, or commercial attractions.
