The Yourtown Teacher Performance Evaluation System (TPES) Handbook conforms to all aspects of the Guidelines for Uniform Performance Standards and Evaluation Criteria for Teacher (hereafter, Guidelines) which was approved by the Virginia Board of Education on March 18, 2021. It is intended as a practical tool to assist school divisions in implementing the Guidelines. School divisions may use this handbook “as is” or modify it using the guidance below. Additionally, throughout the handbook we have specifically annotated where the system is able to be tailored. We also have highlighted key points and have provided a series of tips that school divisions and administrators might wish to consider. The modifications, highlights, and tips are identified with grey arrows to the right side of the text. School divisions are encouraged to thoughtfully review these areas and tailor this handbook to “make it their own.”

What Can School Divisions Modify?

The Guidelines provide a uniform approach to teacher evaluation which should be used throughout the Commonwealth of Virginia. Certain aspects are prescribed by the Code of Virginia, while others are highly recommended based on the research surrounding effective teachers and best practices from the field. However, the Virginia Department of Education recognizes the importance of providing local school divisions with the flexibility to make certain modifications to the evaluation system to meet their unique needs. The bullets below describe the major components of the evaluation system and what can and cannot be modified.

- Performance standards: Performance standards may not be modified.
- Performance indicators: Performance indicators are based on the research relating to effective teaching, but school divisions may modify them to meet their needs or areas of focus.
- Performance rubrics: School divisions may modify performance rubrics, but the Effective level is written as the actual performance standard, so it should not be modified. Also note that the descriptions in the rubrics were intentionally constructed in a parallel manner so that the descriptors use similar terminology (i.e., Highly Effective uses “role model,” Approaching Effective uses “inconsistent,” and Ineffective uses “inadequate” or “fails to.”
- Observations: The Code of Virginia requires the use of observations, but the implementation details (e.g., frequency, duration, completion dates) are left to the local school division.
- Documentation Logs: The use of Documentation Logs is optional but highly recommended, as it provides teachers input into their evaluation and provides evidence for those performance standards that are not easily observed.

- Student Surveys: The use of student surveys is optional but highly recommended, as student perceptions of teacher performance provide a valuable source of feedback. Survey questions provided in this handbook have been specifically selected to address the performance standards but may be modified by the local school division.
- Measures of Student Progress: The Code of Virginia requires that student academic progress be a significant component of the evaluation. How student academic progress is met in the evaluation is the responsibility of local school boards provided that Performance Standard 8: Student Academic Progress is not the least weighted of the performance standards or less than 1 (10%); however, it may be weighted equally as one of the multiple lowest weighted standards. Student learning should be determined by multiple measures of student academic progress (e.g., progress tables, goal setting for student achievement, other valid measures).
- Other Data Sources: Data sources other than those specified above (e.g., conferences, meetings) may be used as determined by the local school division.
- Rating Levels: The rating level names are highly recommended but may be modified by the local school division.
- Interim Evaluation: All probationary teachers should receive an interim review to provide systematic feedback prior to the summative evaluation.
- Summative Evaluation: The Code of Virginia requires all teachers to receive a summative evaluation.
- Single Summative Rating: All teachers will receive a single summative rating to provide an overall rating of the teacher's performance. The Guidelines provides suggested weighting taking into consideration the requirements in the Code of Virginia concerning Performance Standard 8: Student Academic Progress.
- Forms: The forms provided in the Guidelines have been developed to include required information, but school divisions may modify them as needed. This handbook also includes other optional forms, not shown in the Guidelines.

PART I: INTRODUCTION AND PROCESS

Introduction to TPES

The Teacher Performance Evaluation System is intended to support the continuous growth and development of each teacher by monitoring, analyzing, and applying pertinent evidence compiled within a system of meaningful feedback. The system uses uniform performance standards to collect and present data to document performance that is based on well-defined job expectations. These performance standards provide a balance between structure and flexibility and define common purposes and expectations, thereby guiding effective instructional practice. The performance standards also provide flexibility, encouraging creativity and individual teacher initiative.

Purposes and Characteristics of TPES

The primary purposes and distinguishing characteristics of TPES are shown in Figures 1 and 2.

PRIMARY PURPOSES
Contribute to the successful achievement of the goals and objectives defined in a school division's educational plan
Improve the quality of instruction by ensuring accountability for classroom performance and teacher effectiveness
Promote a positive working environment, as well as collaboration and continuous communication between the teacher and the evaluator, that promotes continuous professional growth and improved student outcomes
Promote self-growth, instructional effectiveness, and improvement of overall professional performance
Optimize student learning and growth for all students

DISTINGUISHING CHARACTERISTICS
Benchmark behaviors for each of the teacher performance standards
A focus on the relationship between teacher performance and improved student learning and growth
A system for documenting teacher performance based on multiple data sources regarding teacher performance, including opportunities for teachers to present evidence of their own performance as well as student performance evidence
A procedure for conducting performance reviews that promote professional improvement, increase teacher involvement in the evaluation process, and adequately include accountability
A system for providing assistance when needed

Essential Components of TPES

Clearly defined professional responsibilities constitute the foundation of the teacher performance standards. A fair and comprehensive evaluation system provides sufficient detail and accuracy so that both teachers and evaluators (i.e., principal, supervisor) reasonably understand the job expectations. The expectations for professional performance are defined using a two-tiered approach consisting of eight performance standards and multiple performance indicators to define the expectations for teacher performance. Teachers will be rated on the performance standards using performance rubrics, which are discussed in Part 2. The relationship between these components is depicted in Figure 3.

The effective column is shown with a bold outline throughout the handbook as it is the expected level of performance.

Performance Standards

Performance standards define the criteria expected when teachers perform their major duties. For all teachers, there are eight performance standards that serve as the basis for a teacher’s evaluation as shown in Figure 4. Standards 1-7 relate to a teacher’s practice whereas standard 8 focuses on the results of the teacher’s work as evidenced by student growth.

1. Professional Knowledge The teacher demonstrates an understanding of the curriculum, subject content, and the developmental needs of students by providing relevant learning experiences.
2. Instructional Planning The teacher plans using the Virginia Standards of Learning, the school’s curriculum, student data, and engaging and research-based strategies and resources to meet the needs of all students.
3. Instructional Delivery The teacher uses a variety of research-based instructional strategies appropriate for the content area to engage students in active learning, to promote key skills, and to meet individual learning needs.
4. Assessment of/for Student Learning The teacher systematically gathers, analyzes, and uses all relevant data to measure student progress, guide instructional content and delivery methods, and provide timely feedback to students, parents/caregivers, and other educators, as needed.
5. Learning Environment The teacher uses resources, routines, and procedures to provide a respectful, positive, safe, student-centered environment that is conducive to learning.
6. Culturally Responsive Teaching and Equitable Practices The teacher demonstrates a commitment to equity and provides instruction and classroom strategies that result in culturally inclusive and responsive learning environments and academic achievement for all students.
7. Professionalism The teacher demonstrates a commitment to professional ethics, collaborates and communicates appropriately, and takes responsibility for personal professional growth that results in the enhancement of student learning.	The Professionalism standard changed from Standard 6 in the 2012 version to Standard 7 in the 2021 version.
8. Student Academic Progress The work of the teacher results in acceptable, measurable, and appropriate student academic progress.	The Student Academic Progress standard changed from Standard 7 in the 2012 version to Standard 8 in the 2021 version.

Performance Indicators

Performance indicators provide examples of observable, tangible behavior that indicate the degree to which teachers are meeting each performance standard. This helps teachers and their evaluators clarify performance levels and job expectations. Performance indicators are provided as examples of the types of performance that will occur if a standard is being successfully met. However, the list of performance indicators is not exhaustive, is not intended to be prescriptive, and is not intended to be a checklist. Indicators in one performance standard may be closely related to indicators in another standard. This is because the standards, themselves, are not mutually exclusive and may have overlapping aspects. Teachers are not expected to demonstrate each performance indicator, as all performance indicators may not be applicable to a particular work assignment. Some teaching positions may need to identify specific indicators that are consistent with job requirements and school improvement plans. Supplemental indicators for various content areas and specialties are provided in the appendices. Figure 3, shown previously, depicts the sample performance indicators for the Instructional Planning standard.

It is important to document a teacher's performance on each standard with evidence generated from multiple performance indicators.

Ratings are made at the performance standard level, NOT at the performance indicator level.

Performance Rubrics

The performance rubric is a behavioral summary scale that guides evaluators in assessing how well a standard is performed. It states the measure of performance expected of teachers and provides a qualitative general description of performance at each level. In some instances, quantitative terms are included to augment the qualitative description. The resulting performance rubric provides a clearly delineated step-wise progression, along a continuum of effectiveness (as illustrated with arrows between the levels). Each level is intended to be qualitatively superior to all lower levels. Teachers who earn a Highly Effective rating must meet the requirements for the Effective level and go beyond it. Performance rubrics are provided to increase reliability among evaluators and to help teachers focus on ways to enhance their teaching practice. Figure 3, shown previously, depicts the performance rubric for the Instructional Planning standard.

The rating of effective is the expected level of performances and, with the exception of Standard 6, is written as the actual performance standard.

Responsibilities of Site Administrators

The site administrator has the ultimate responsibility for ensuring that TPES is executed faithfully and effectively in the school. For an evaluation system to be meaningful, it must provide its users with relevant and timely feedback, thus administrators other than the site administrator, such as assistant principals, may be designated by the evaluator to supervise, monitor, and assist with the multiple data source collection.

Teacher Practice Measures

The role of a teacher requires a performance evaluation system that acknowledges the complexities of the job. Multiple data sources provide for a comprehensive and authentic “performance portrait” of the teacher’s work. The sources of evidence described in Figure 5 were selected to provide comprehensive and accurate feedback on teacher performance. These suggested documentation sources for teacher evaluation can be used for both probationary and continuing contract teachers.

Data Source	Description
Formal Observations (Required)	Observations are an important source of performance information. Formal observations focus directly on the teacher performance standards. Classroom observations also may include a review of teacher products or artifacts and a review of student data.
Informal Observations/ Walk-throughs (Highly Recommended)	Informal observations and walk-throughs are intended to provide more frequent information on a wider variety of contributions made by the teacher. Evaluators are encouraged to conduct observations by visiting classrooms, observing instruction, and observing work in non-classroom settings.
Student Surveys (Highly Recommended)	Student surveys provide information to the teacher about students’ perceptions of how the professional is performing. The actual survey responses are seen only by the teacher who prepares a survey summary for inclusion in the Documentation Log. The surveys provided in this document are designed to be used in grades 1 – 12 (e.g., not with pre-kindergarten and kindergarten students).
Documentation Logs (Highly Recommended)	Documentation Logs include both specifically required artifacts and teacher-selected artifacts that provide evidence of meeting performance standards. Teachers should submit authentic artifacts created in their day-to-day work and are encouraged to reflect on them as appropriate. The process of reflecting on the documents allows teachers to use many of the artifacts as points for growth and improvement.
Self-evaluation (Highly Recommended)	Self-evaluations reveal the teachers’ perceptions of their job performance and help teachers to reflect on areas of strength and areas for improvement.

Alignment of Performance Standards with Data Sources

Some performance standards are best documented through observation; other standards may require additional documentation techniques. Therefore, multiple data sources are used. Figure 6 shows the data sources that are likely to provide the most powerful evidence related to each performance standard.

“P” is the primary method to collect evidence; “S” is a supplemental method.

Observations

Observations are intended to provide information on a wide variety of contributions made by teachers in the classroom or to the school community as a whole. Administrators are continually observing in their schools by walking through classrooms and non-instructional spaces, attending meetings, and participating in school activities. These day-to-day observations are not necessarily noted in writing, but they do serve as a source of information.

The Code of Virginia requires the use of observations, but the implementation details (e.g., frequency, duration, completion dates) are left to the local school division.

Direct classroom observation can be a useful way to collect information on teacher performance; as a stand-alone data collection process, however, it has major limitations. If the purpose of a teacher evaluation system is to provide a comprehensive picture of performance in order to guide professional growth, then classroom observations should be only one piece of the data collection puzzle. Given the complexity of the job responsibilities of teachers, it is unlikely that an evaluator will have the opportunity to observe and provide feedback on all of the performance standards in a given visit.

Observations can be conducted in a variety of settings and take on a variety of forms. Furthermore, observations may be announced or unannounced. Evaluators are encouraged to conduct observations by observing instruction and non-instructional routines at various times throughout the evaluation period.

Formal Observations

Classroom observations can be announced or unannounced and provide key information on several of the performance standards. Probationary teachers will be observed at least three times per year. It is recommended that two of these observations occur prior to the end of the first semester and the third by March 1. Continuing contract teachers will be observed at least once per year. Additional observations for any staff member will be at the site administrator's discretion. All observations will include a classroom observation of at least 30 consecutive minutes and a post-observation conference to provide feedback to the teacher.

The number and duration of observations listed here are examples for this handbook and may be modified by the school division.

A pre-observation conference may be conducted at the request of the teacher or the administrator. A sample Pre-observation Conference Form, a Formative Feedback Form and various other observation forms are shown in Part III. One copy of the observation form should be given to the teacher, and one copy should be maintained by the evaluator for the entire evaluation cycle to document professional growth and development.

Other observation forms may be used at the discretion of the school division.

Informal Observations and Walk-throughs

Informal observations are typically less structured than formal observations and are intended to provide information more frequently on a wide variety of contributions made by teachers in the classroom or to the school community as a whole. Evaluators are encouraged to conduct informal observations by observing instructional and non-instructional routines at various times throughout the evaluation cycle. Regular, repeated visits to the classroom and other settings help evaluators to obtain a representative sampling of performance. An important factor for evaluators to remember when collecting informal observation data is to focus on specific, factual descriptions of performance.

Typically, walk-through observations are designed to provide brief (three to ten minutes) visits in multiple classrooms. While walk-through visits can be helpful in checking for standard instructional practices or for vertical and horizontal curriculum articulation across the school, evaluators should be cautious in relying on these visits for individual teacher evaluation as, generally, they are not designed for teacher evaluation. Visits of three to five minutes, even if conducted frequently, do not do justice to teachers in terms of understanding their instructional or assessment practices, student time-on-task, learning environment, and so forth.

A sample Informal Classroom Observation/Walk-through Form is provided in Part III. One copy of this form should be given to the teacher, and one copy should be maintained by the evaluator for the entire evaluation cycle to document growth and development.

Documentation Log

Artifacts of a teacher’s performance can serve as valuable and insightful data sources for documenting the work that teachers actually do, how they support student growth, and how they contribute to their own professional growth and development. When teachers reflect on their own work as they add artifacts to a Documentation Log, it encourages them to consider their own strengths and areas for improvement as they continue to grow and improve their professional teaching practices. The items they include provide evaluators with information they likely would not observe during the course of a typical classroom visit. They also provide the teacher with an opportunity for self-reflection, demonstration of quality work, and are a basis for two-way communication with an evaluator. The emphasis is on the quality of work, not the quantity of materials presented.

The use of Documentation Logs is optional but highly recommended, as it provides teachers input into their evaluation and provides evidence for those performance standards that are not easily observed.

The reflective aspect of artifacts provides one of the key benefits for teachers. Teachers should be encouraged to reflect on how the artifact was used and how it might be improved.

Some items may be required by the school division; however, other documents may be included upon evaluator request and/or teacher choice. Specifically, the Documentation Log is a work in progress and should be a “natural harvest” of the artifacts that result from the day-to-day work of the teacher. Artifacts should not be created solely for the purpose of evaluation. A single artifact may provide evidence toward multiple performance standards; therefore, it is important that the teacher identify the performance standard(s) to which the artifact relates. It also is helpful to provide a brief reflection so that the evaluator understands the context surrounding the artifact.

School divisions should make their expectations known as far as the number and type of artifacts to be submitted.

Prompts for reflection might include: 1) How effective was the use of this artifact in the classroom? 2) How does this artifact inform or demonstrate evidence of professional growth and/or student growth?

For probationary teachers and teachers on Performance Improvement Plans, the Documentation Log contains items relevant to a single evaluation year. A new Documentation Log is begun for each evaluation cycle. Teachers with continuing contracts on a three-year evaluation cycle maintain the Documentation Log for three years and empty it upon completing the three-year cycle. Therefore, these teachers will have multiple versions of the required items. Teachers should make sure each item is labeled such that it clearly indicates which school year it represents (for example, 2021-2022 Communication Log). If submitting in hard copy, teachers may use the sample Documentation Log Cover Sheet provided in Part III.

The Documentation Log should be available for review at any time per the administrator’s request. At a minimum, evaluators will review and provide feedback on the Documentation Log annually. Additionally, probationary teachers will meet with administrators and/or evaluators to review their Documentation Log by the end of the first semester. Figure 7 shows examples of items that may be included in the

Student Surveys

The purpose of a student survey is to collect information that will help the teacher set goals for continuous improvement (i.e., for formative evaluation). The importance of student feedback to teachers should not be neglected as it may provide information that may not be accurately obtained in observations.

Student Surveys are optional, but highly recommended, as they provide teachers with the perception of the receivers of their services.

There are four different versions of the student survey (Grades 1-2, 3-5, 6-8, and 9-12) designed to reflect developmental differences in students' ability to provide useful feedback to their teacher. All surveys should be completed anonymously to promote honest feedback.

Survey questions in Part III of the Handbook may be modified by the local school division.

Teachers of grades 1-5 should administer student surveys to the entire class during the second nine weeks so that teachers can use the information for formative feedback. Teachers at the middle and high school levels should administer surveys to two classes of students that are representative of their teaching assignment(s) during the year. At the teacher's discretion, additional questions may be added to the survey. The teacher will retain sole access to the student surveys; however, the teacher will provide a summary of the surveys to the evaluator using the Student Survey Summary Form which can be included in the teacher's Documentation Log. Teachers have the option of surveying their students again at the end of the year to see if their perceptions have changed.

The requirements listed here are examples for this handbook and may be modified by the school division.

Self-evaluation

Teachers are faced with a dynamic context in which to apply their knowledge, skills, and abilities. What worked last year may not work this year for a variety of reasons, some of which are outside the teachers' control. When teachers take the time to think about how they might improve their delivery, instructional strategies, content, and so forth, they discover ways to make their practice more effective, which, in turn, may impact student learning.

Self-evaluation is an optional, but highly recommended practice.

Therefore, at the beginning of the school year, it is highly recommended that teachers conduct a self-assessment of professional practice to reflect on their strengths, areas for improvement, and strategies for growth. Teachers should consider all relevant information, including previous feedback from their evaluator, previous survey results, and student growth measures. Based on areas that need improvement, teachers should consider developing professional practice goals which they can share with their evaluator for ideas on strategies they might consider to help achieve the goal. A sample Teacher Self-evaluation Form is in Part III.

Student Outcome Measures

Multiple Measures

In the TPES model, Performance Standard 8, Student Academic Progress, is used as an organizing framework to incorporate various measures of student growth. Virginia law (Article 2, §22-1.293 and Article 2, §22.1-295) requires principals, assistant principals, and teachers to be evaluated using measures of student academic progress. The Code of Virginia requires that student academic progress be a significant component of the evaluation. Yourtown School Division will weigh Performance Standard 8 equally with the other seven standards as shown later in this handbook.

How student academic progress is met is the responsibility of local school boards provided that Performance Standard 8: Student Academic Progress is not the least weighted of the performance standards or less than 1 (10%); however, it may be weighted equally as one of multiple lowest weighted standards.

There are three key points to consider:

1. Student learning should be determined by multiple measures of student academic progress. The rating on this performance standard should never be based on a single measure of Student Academic Progress.
2. Progress (value) table data as provided by the Virginia Department of Education may be used when the data are available and can be used appropriately. It may be appropriate to use student achievement in the context of goal setting as an additional measure.
3. One or more alternative measures, with evidence that the alternative measures are valid, should be used in teacher evaluation. Note: Whenever possible, it is recommended that the second progress measure be grounded in validated, quantitative, objective measures, using tools already available in the school.

It is important to understand that less than 30% of teachers in Virginia's public schools will have a direct measure of student academic progress available based on Standards of Learning assessment results. When the state-provided progress measure is available, the data should be reviewed for accuracy and appropriateness before including it in a teacher's performance evaluation. Guidance for applying progress table data to teacher performance evaluation is provided in Figure 8. Additional measures for all teachers must be included to ensure that there are student academic progress measures available for teachers who will not be provided with data from the state and that more than one measure of student academic progress can be included in all teachers' evaluations. Quantitative measures of student academic progress based on validated achievement measures that already are being used locally should be the first data considered when determining local progress measures; other measures are recommended for use when two valid and direct measures of student academic progress are not available.

In choosing measures of student academic progress, Yourtown School Division will consider individual teacher and schoolwide goals and align performance measures to the goals. In considering the association between schoolwide goals and teacher performance, it may be appropriate to apply the state growth measure – progress tables – as one measure of progress for teachers who provide support for mathematics or reading instruction. For example, progress table data could be applied at the school level, grade level, department, sub-group, or by the individual teacher as one of multiple measures for documenting student academic progress. This would be appropriate only if all teachers were expected to contribute directly to student progress in mathematics or reading.

The choice of how to apply progress table data to teachers who are supporting mathematics and reading achievement is a local one; it is critical that decisions to apply progress table data to support teachers as part of their evaluation be made in a manner that is consistent with individual, school, or school division goals.

In considering schoolwide goals, school leaders could decide that all teachers would be evaluated, in part, based on state-provided progress table data.

In the progress table model, student growth is determined by comparing the student’s test score in the current year to his/her prior test score. Each Standards of Learning performance level (Below Basic, Basic, Proficient, and Advanced) is divided into two sub-levels: Low and High. Growth is measured by the number of performance sub-levels a student advances toward demonstrating proficiency on the state standards. Utilizing growth measures as part of the teacher evaluation process may be accomplished by calculating the aggregate growth of the students in the teacher’s class.

Other measures of student academic progress are critical for determining teacher impact on performance. To the extent possible, teachers and administrators should choose measures of student academic progress that are based on validated quantitative measures and provide data that reflect progress in student learning. Validated assessment tools that provide quantitative measures of learning and achievement should be the first choice in measuring student academic progress. Often, a combination of absolute achievement, as measured by nationally validated assessments and goal setting (described later in this document) is appropriate.

There also are teachers for whom validated achievement measures are not readily available. In these situations, student goal setting provides an approach that quantifies student academic progress in meaningful ways and is an appropriate option for measuring student academic progress.

¹ Teachers and administrators need to determine the applicability of progress table data to the evaluation of teachers who teach disproportionately large numbers of students for whom no progress table data are available. Students without progress table data will include those who: transferred into their classroom from out of state or late in the school year, do not have two consecutive years of failing SOL test scores, or have earned sufficiently high scores on the SOL test that the progress table data were not provided. In situations in which a significant proportion of students taught do not have progress table data, this measure of student progress would not be appropriate to apply to evaluations, or would need to be considered and applied to Standard 8 in the context of growth data from other measures, but not necessarily as half of the data contributing to Standard 8.

Goal Setting for Student Achievement

One approach to linking student achievement to teacher performance involves building the capacity for teachers and their supervisors to interpret and use student achievement data to set target goals for student improvement. Setting goals – not just any goals, but goals set squarely on student performance – is a powerful way to enhance professional performance and, in turn, positively impact student achievement. Student Achievement Goal Setting is designed to improve student learning.

For many teachers, measures of student performance can be directly documented. A gain score approach can be used that documents their influence on student learning. Simply put, a student growth component in a teacher assessment system can be summarized using the equation in Figure 9.

Creating student achievement goals involves several steps, beginning with knowing where students are in relation to what is expected of them. Once that is known, the teacher can set specific, measurable objectives based on the demands of the curriculum, educational environment, and needs of the students. The next part of the process is recursive in that the teacher creates and implements strategies and monitors progress. As progress is monitored, the teacher makes adjustments to the teaching and learning strategies. Finally, a summative judgment is made regarding student learning for a specific period of time. Figure 10 depicts these steps.

² This process is laid out by Stronge, J.H., & Grant, L. H. (2009).

Rating Teacher Performance

Formal evaluation of performance quality typically occurs at the summative evaluation stage, which comes at the end of the evaluation cycle (e.g., school year). The ratings for each performance standard are based on multiple sources of information and are completed only after pertinent data from all sources have been reviewed.

Teachers will be rated on each performance standard using a performance rubric. As previously discussed, the rubric is a behavioral summary scale that describes performance levels for each teacher performance standard. The scale states the measure of performance expected of teachers and provides a general description of what each rating entails. Figure 11 explains the four levels of ratings.

Teachers are expected to perform at the Effective level.

School divisions may modify the rating level names.

Category	Description	Definition
Highly Effective	The teacher performing at this level maintains performance, accomplishments, and behaviors that consistently and considerably surpass the established performance standard. This rating is reserved for performance that is truly exemplary and done in a manner that exemplifies the school's mission and goals.	Exceptional performance: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • sustains high performance over a period of time • consistently exhibits behaviors that have a strong positive impact on student learning and the school climate • serves as a role model to others
Effective	The teacher consistently meets the performance standard in a manner that is aligned with the school's mission and goals.	Proficient performance: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • meets the requirements contained in the performance standard • exhibits behaviors that have a positive impact on student learning and the school climate • demonstrates a willingness to learn and apply new skills

Approaching Effective	The teacher’s performance is inconsistent in meeting the established performance standard and/or working toward the school’s mission and goals. The teacher may be starting to exhibit the desirable traits related to the standard but has not yet reached the full level of proficiency expected (i.e., developing) or the teacher’s performance is lacking in a particular area (i.e., needs improvement).	Developing/needs improvement performance: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> requires support in meeting the performance standard results in less than expected quality of student performance leads to areas for teacher improvement being jointly identified and planned between the teacher and evaluator
Ineffective	The teacher consistently performs below the established performance standard or in a manner that is inconsistent with the school’s mission and goals.	Unacceptable performance: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> does not meet the requirements contained in the performance standard results in minimal student learning may result in the employee not being recommended for continued employment

Interim Evaluation

All probationary teachers should receive an interim evaluation to provide systematic feedback prior to the completion of a summative evaluation. The multiple data sources discussed earlier are used to compile a Teacher Interim Performance Report that indicates if a teacher has shown evidence of each of the performance standards. The evaluator should share her/his assessment of the teacher’s performance by the last school day before winter break. A sample Teacher Interim Performance Report is in Part III.

School divisions may choose to include continuing contract teachers.

Because sufficient evidence likely will not have been accrued by mid-year, an actual rating for each standard is not given on the interim evaluation.

The date is an example for this handbook and may be modified by the school division.

Summative Evaluation

Assessment of performance quality occurs only at the summative evaluation stage, which comes at the end of the evaluation cycle (i.e., one-year for probationary teachers, three years for continuing contract teachers). The ratings for each performance standard are based on multiple data sources and are completed only after pertinent data from all sources are reviewed. The integration of data provides the evidence used to determine the performance ratings for the summative evaluations for all teachers.

There are two major considerations in assessing job performance during summative evaluation: 1) the actual teacher performance standards, and 2) how well the standards are performed.

Evaluators make judgments about performance of the eight teacher standards based on all available evidence. After collecting information gathered through observation, goal setting, student performance measures, and other appropriate data sources, the evaluator applies the four-level rating scale to evaluate a teacher’s performance on all teacher expectations for the summative evaluation. Therefore, the summative evaluation represents where the “preponderance of evidence” exists, based on various data sources. A sample Teacher Summative Performance Report is provided in Part III. The results of the evaluation must be discussed with the teacher at a summative evaluation conference.

Evaluators should consider all evidence from multiple data sources as well as the wording of the rubric to determine the appropriate rating level.

When determining a rating, evaluators should start at the effective level and adjust the rating one way or the other based on the preponderance of evidence.

Summative evaluations should be completed in compliance with requirements from the Code of Virginia and school division policy. For teachers with continuing contract status, evaluations take place at the end of the defined evaluation cycle. However, if a teacher with continuing contract status is not meeting expectations (at any point in the cycle) or is fulfilling a Performance Improvement Plan, the evaluation cycle will vary. Summative evaluation for teachers with continuing contract status is based on all applicable data collected during the evaluation cycle.

Single Summative Rating

In addition to receiving a diagnostic rating for each of the eight performance ratings, the employee will receive a single summative evaluation rating at the conclusion of the evaluation cycle. This summative rating will reflect an overall evaluation rating for the employee. The intent is not to replace the diagnostic value of the eight performance standards; rather it is to provide an overall rating of the employee’s performance. The overall summative rating will be judged to be Highly Effective, Effective, Approaching Effective, or Ineffective.

Scores will be calculated using the following scale:

Highly Effective = 4

Effective = 3

Approaching Effective = 2

Ineffective = 1

Figure 12 illustrates how Yourtown School Division will weigh each performance standard and Figure 13 provides an example of the weighted calculation to determine the single summative rating.

Performance Standard	Weight
Standard 1	1.25
Standard 2	1.25
Standard 3	1.25
Standard 4	1.25
Standard 5	1.25
Standard 6	1.25
Standard 7	1.25
Standard 8	1.25

As noted earlier, how student academic progress is met is the responsibility of local school boards provided that Performance Standard 8: Student Academic Progress is not the least weighted of the performance standards or less than 1 (10%); however, it may be weighted equally as one of multiple lowest weighted standards.

Performance Standard	Performance Rating	Points	Weight	Weighted Total (Points x Weight)
Standard 1	Highly Effective	4	1.25	5
Standard 2	Effective	3	1.25	3.75
Standard 3	Effective	3	1.25	3.75
Standard 4	Effective	3	1.25	3.75
Standard 5	Effective	3	1.25	3.75
Standard 6	Highly Effective	4	1.25	5
Standard 7	Highly Effective	4	1.25	5
Standard 8	Effective	3	1.25	3.75
Single Summative Rating				33.75

School divisions may prefer to convert this calculation to a 100 point scale.

Yourtown School Division has determined that no teachers can be given a summary rating of Highly Effective if they are rated below Effective on any of the eight standards.

School divisions may establish and document additional criteria to the summative rating as shown here. They also may determine that summative criteria should differ for teachers at different points on the career ladder. These decisions and documentation of such decisions, must be made before the revised evaluation system is put into place. As well, it is critical that teachers understand the requirements before the evaluation cycle begins.

The overall single summative rating will be judged as Highly Effective, Effective, Approaching Effective, or Ineffective using the range of scores shown in Figure 14.

Rating	Range of Scores
Highly Effective	35-40
Effective	26-34
Approaching Effective	20-25
Ineffective	10-19

School divisions need to establish and document, a priori, cut-offs for determining final summative ratings after the weighted contribution is calculated.

Note: Regardless of the overall total points earned, three or more Approaching Effective ratings on individual performance standards will result in an overall rating of Approaching Effective or Ineffective. Similarly, one Ineffective rating on any one performance standard may result in an overall Ineffective rating.

Evaluation Schedule

Summative evaluations are to be completed before the last week of school for all contract types. Figure 15 details the recommended Yourtown School Division evaluation schedule for all components of the evaluation system. If non-renewal of a teacher is anticipated, the summative evaluation ideally occurs at least one semester prior to the end of school year, provided that the teacher has had an opportunity to complete all of the Performance Improvement Plan activities (described in the next section of this handbook).

Prior to the beginning of the school year, school divisions should modify the evaluation schedule to meet their own needs.

Documentation Records

Documentation records are maintained by both the teacher and the principal/evaluator for the entire evaluation period. If the teacher transfers among the division's schools, the documentation may be forwarded to the receiving school's site administrator. At the end of an evaluation cycle, the evaluator retains copies of the Goal Setting for Student Academic Progress Form, Documentation Log Cover Sheet, Observation Form(s) or Formative Feedback Form(s), and Summative Performance Report at the school/worksite.

Improving Professional Performance

Supporting teachers is essential to the success of schools. Many resources are needed to assist teachers in growing professionally. Sometimes additional support is required to help teachers develop so that they can meet the performance standards for their school.

Two tools may be used at the discretion of the evaluator. The first is the Support Dialogue, a school-level discussion between the evaluator and the teacher. It is an optional process to promote conversation about performance in order to address specific needs or desired areas for professional growth. The second is the Performance Improvement Plan which has a more formal structure and is used for notifying a teacher of performance that requires improvement due to less-than-proficient performance.

Both tools may be used for all teachers, regardless of contract status. The tools may be used independently of each other. Figure 16 highlights key differences between the two processes.

*The principal is responsible for the overall supervision of personnel in the worksite/department/school and, as such, monitors the Performance Improvement Plan and makes recommendations to the superintendent or her or his designee about the teacher's progress. If an assistant principal has been collecting documentation such as observations, the assistant principal and the principal must confer about the Performance Improvement Plan. Article 2, § 22-1.293 of the Code of Virginia: Teachers, Officers and Employees, states, in part, the following: A principal may submit recommendations to the division superintendent for the appointment, assignment, promotion, transfer, and dismissal of all personnel assigned to his supervision. Beginning September 1, 2000, (i) principals must have received training, provided pursuant to §22.1-253.13:5, in the evaluation and documentation of employee performance, which evaluation and documentation shall include, but shall not be limited to, employee skills and knowledge and student academic progress prior to submitting such recommendations; and (ii) assistant principals and other administrative personnel participating in the evaluation and documentation of employee performance must also have received such training in the evaluation and documentation of employee performance.

Support Dialogue

The Support Dialogue is initiated by evaluators or teachers at any point during the school year for use with personnel whose professional practice would benefit from additional support. It is designed to facilitate discussion about the area(s) of concern and ways to address those concerns. The Support Dialogue process should not be construed as applying to poor-performing teachers. The option for a Support Dialogue is open to any teacher who desires assistance in a particular area.

During the initial conference, both parties share what each will do to support the teacher's growth (see sample prompts in Figure 17) and decide when to meet again. To facilitate the improvements, they may choose to fill out the optional Support Dialogue Form in Part III. After the agreed-upon time to receive support and implement changes in professional practice has elapsed, the evaluator and teacher meet again to discuss the impact of the changes (see sample follow-up prompts in Figure 17).

It is important to note that the support dialogue process is not intended to be punitive. Teachers should feel free to request the targeted support it offers.

Sample Prompts for the Initial Conversation

What challenges have you encountered in addressing _____ (tell specific concern)?
What have you tried to address the concern of _____ (tell specific concern)?
What support can I or others at the school/worksites provide you?

Sample Prompts for the Follow-Up Conversation

Last time we met, we talked about _____ (tell specific concern). What has gone well?
What has not gone as well?

The entire Support Dialogue process is intended to be completed in a relatively short time period (for example, within a six-week period) as it offers targeted support. If the Support Dialogue was initiated by a teacher seeking self-improvement, the evaluator and the teacher may decide at any time either to conclude the process or to continue the support and allocate additional time or resources.

For teachers for whom the evaluator initiated the Support Dialogue, the desired outcome would be that the teacher's practice has improved to a proficient level. In the event that improvements in performance are still needed, the evaluator makes a determination either to extend the time of the Support Dialogue, because progress has been made, or to allocate additional time or resources. If the necessary improvement is not made, the employee must be placed on a Performance Improvement Plan. Once placed on a Performance Improvement Plan, the employee will have a specified time period (for example, 90 calendar days) to demonstrate that the identified deficiencies have been corrected.

Performance Improvement Plan

School divisions may modify this section to meet their specific policies.

If a teacher's performance does not meet the expectations established by the school, the teacher will be placed on a Performance Improvement Plan (see Performance Improvement Plan Form on the following pages). A Performance Improvement Plan is designed to support a teacher in addressing areas of concern through targeted supervision and additional resources. It may be used by an evaluator at any point during the year for a teacher whose professional practice would benefit from additional support. Additionally, a Performance Improvement Plan is implemented if one of the following scenarios occurs at the end of any data collection period:

- a teacher receives two or more "Not Evident" ratings at the interim review;
- a rating of Approaching Effective on two or more performance standards; or
- a rating of Ineffective on one or more performance standards or an overall rating of Ineffective.

Implementation of Performance Improvement Plan

When a teacher is placed on a Performance Improvement Plan, the evaluator must:

- provide written notification to the teacher of the area(s) of concern that need(s) to be addressed;
- formulate a Performance Improvement Plan in conjunction with the teacher; and
- review the results of the Performance Improvement Plan with the teacher within established timelines.

Assistance may include:

- assistance from a curriculum or program coordinator;
- support from a professional peer or supervisor;
- conferences, classes, and workshops on specific topics; and/or
- other resources to be identified.

Resolution of Performance Improvement Plan

Prior to the evaluator making a final recommendation, the evaluator meets with the teacher to review progress made on the Performance Improvement Plan, according to the timeline. The options for a final recommendation include:

- Sufficient improvement has been achieved; the teacher is no longer on a Performance Improvement Plan and is rated Effective.
- Partial improvement has been achieved but more improvement is needed; the teacher remains on a Performance Improvement Plan and is rated Approaching Effective.
- Little or no improvement has been achieved; the teacher is rated Ineffective.

When a teacher is rated Ineffective, the teacher may be recommended for dismissal. If the teacher is not dismissed, a new Performance Improvement Plan will be implemented. Following completion of the Performance Improvement Plan, if the teacher is rated Ineffective a second time, the teacher will be recommended for dismissal.

The teacher may request a review of the evidence in relation to an Ineffective rating received on a summative evaluation or, as a result of a Performance Improvement Plan, in accordance with the policies and procedures of the school division.

When a teacher with continuing contract status is rated Ineffective, a Performance Improvement Plan will be developed and implemented. Following implementation of the Performance Improvement Plan, additional performance data, including observations as applicable, will be collected.

PART II: PERFORMANCE STANDARDS

Teachers are evaluated on each performance standard using the performance rubrics found beneath the listing of performance standards and indicators in this section. The performance indicators are provided as examples of observable, tangible behavior that indicate the degree to which teachers are meeting each performance standard.

The list of performance indicators is not exhaustive, is not intended to be prescriptive, and is not intended to be a checklist.

Instructional Delivery Rubric

Highly Effective In addition to meeting the requirements for Effective...	Effective Effective is the expected level of performance.	Approaching Effective	Ineffective
The teacher fluidly modifies strategies, materials, and groupings to optimize students' opportunities to learn and serves as a role model on how to keep all students challenged in focused work in which they are active problem-solvers and learners.	The teacher uses a variety of research-based instructional strategies appropriate for the content area to engage students in active learning, to promote key skills, and to meet individual learning needs.	The teacher is inconsistent in his/her use of appropriate instructional strategies and/or in engaging students in active learning, promoting key skills, and/or meeting individual learning needs.	The teacher fails to use appropriate instructional strategies and/or is inadequate in engaging students in active learning, promoting key skills, and/or meeting individual learning needs of all students.

Introduction

Part III contains copies of forms supporting the evaluation of teachers. The evaluator and the teacher use the forms to provide evidence of the quality of work performed. The evaluator maintains the forms and provides copies to the teacher. At a minimum, the evaluator retains copies of the Goal Setting for Student Academic Progress Form, Documentation Log Cover Sheet, Observation Form(s) or Formative Feedback Form(s), and Summative Performance Report at the school/worksite.

School divisions may modify these forms to meet their needs.
